

Monthly commentary

“ Witan’s NAV total return in August was -2.3% while the benchmark’s total return was -1.4%. The share price total return was -4.1%, as Witan’s (and the sector’s) discount widened. Over the year to date, Witan’s NAV total return of +8.3% is in line with the benchmark’s total return.

Equity markets retreated in August, as investors waited to dissect the ‘Jackson Hole Speech’ delivered by Jerome Powell (US Federal Reserve Chair) on the 25th of the month. This was an eagerly anticipated address, as various data points are starting to show that inflation (in the US) is converging, albeit slowly, with the 2% inflation target. The message he gave was clear, the 2% target would not be abandoned and therefore the Fed will remain vigilant and is prepared to push rates up further, should it be judged to be prudent to do so. However, reading between the lines, analysts concluded that the Fed’s approach would become increasingly measured, as committee members wait to see whether action already taken may be enough to achieve its aims.

US equities took heart from this interpretation and rallied into the month end, closing virtually unchanged over the period. Other markets were less buoyant with the UK, Europe and Asia declining -2.5%, -2.5% and -3.4% respectively. Emerging Markets fell nearly -5% with China declining over -7%. Sentiment towards the Chinese economy has deteriorated, despite early signs of government stimulus, with concern surrounding the property sector spreading more widely. This weakness has (serendipitously for developed markets) acted as a break on global inflation, perhaps allowing central bankers to be more patient. Aggressive policy support, as we have seen in previous cycles, may help China avoid further deterioration. This could mean that the much anticipated post-pandemic recovery, may actually arrive in 2024 rather than 2023. Witan’s NAV total return in August was -2.3% while the benchmark’s total return was -1.4%. The share price total return was -4.1%, as Witan’s (and the sector’s) discount widened. Over the year to date, Witan’s NAV total return of +8.3% is in line with the benchmark’s total return.

Last month’s investment activity is highlighted overleaf. Two of Witan’s managers purchased Amazon shares during the month. Amazon is now a 1.8% position for Witan (having been 1.4% at the end of July), making it the largest holding in our core equity portfolio. Elsewhere, managers added to Lloyds Banking Group at the expense of NatWest, although both UK banks remain on the list of our portfolio’s top 20 holdings. Other names in the list major holdings include the technology giants Microsoft, Alphabet and Nvidia (despite managers selling a small amount of Nvidia last month, following some stellar performance from the chipmaker over the year to date). The largest single trade during August was a part sale of Princess Private Equity. The sale price was nearly 30% higher than that at the end of 2022 and well above the level prevailing when we added to the holding just before the dividend debacle in November of last year. We retain a sizable position in Princess, as we expect the Board (which is in the process of being strengthened) to address the issues it faces as a result of recent missteps. A near 30% discount to NAV leaves plenty of upside for shareholders, should the Board adopt the right course of action. These funds were partially recycled into the GMO Climate Change strategy, which has had an uncharacteristically lacklustre year to date. We remain convinced of the long-term attractions of this specialist mandate and of the climate change theme in general.

Important information

This marketing communication is provided for informational purposes only and should not be construed as constituting an offer or a solicitation to buy or sell interests or investments in Witan Investment Trust plc. Any reference to individual securities does not constitute a recommendation to purchase, sell or hold the investment.

Please remember that past performance is not a guide to future performance. Witan Investment Trust is an equity investment. The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise as a result of currency and market fluctuations and you may not get back the amount originally invested. Investment trusts can borrow money to make additional investments on top of shareholders' funds (gearing). If the value of these investments falls gearing will magnify the negative impact on performance. If an investment trust incorporates a large amount of gearing the value of its shares may be subject to sudden and large falls in value and you could get back nothing at all. The share price may trade above and below the NAV per share representing either a premium or discount to the share price respectively.
